Request for Proposal (RFP) for Brazil G20 Consultant

1. RFP Background & Objectives

Wellcome is a global charitable foundation. We want everyone to benefit from science’s potential to improve health and save lives. We’re spending £16 billion by 2032 on projects across a range of academic disciplines – including physical and social sciences, and the humanities – to ensure researchers have what they need to be ambitious, creative, and make new discoveries.

We use the evidence from research we fund to persuade policy makers – as well as commercial, charitable, and non-governmental organisations around the world – to keep human health at the heart of key decisions. Through campaigns and partnerships, Wellcome brings together people and resources from across society to get the most out of research. It’s how we make sure great ideas improve health, as quickly as possible, for everyone.

Wellcome works across global policy fora to advance progress on our four strategic priorities: climate and health, infectious disease, mental health and discovery research. Wellcome is looking to specifically increase its effectiveness of its interaction at multilateral forums – across all four strategic priority areas. One area of interest is to influence the G20 outcome for 2024 across Wellcome’s strategic priority areas.

The G20 is a multilateral platform connecting the world’s major developed and emerging economies. For 2024, Brazil has the G20 Presidency and given the Brazilian Government will also host the COP30 conference the following year, the climate and health agenda is of particular interest to Wellcome’s work with the region at this time. Wellcome currently has a small number of relationships with the Brazilian government and regional stakeholders, but is looking for a consultant with experience influencing in Brazil and in the Latin American region, who can bring their own knowledge and perspective to the role.

The Government Relations and Strategic Partnerships team lead Wellcome’s diplomatic efforts, advocating for change in our world, and building the knowledge and partnerships that help us reach our goals. We focus on climate, mental health and infectious disease, and work closely with Policy and Corporate Affairs teams to deliver coordinated global political and cultural outreach. Our key stakeholders include Governments and public bodies, multilateral organisations, the private sector and philanthropies.

This consultant will report directly to the Global Government Relations team, but will have multiple touchpoints across Wellcome.

2. RFP Specification

This section sets out the specification of services for this RFP exercise. Suppliers should use this section to fully understand Wellcome’s requirements and to inform their response. Wellcome will be guided by the supplier as to what is a reasonable budget for this activity as we do not want limit ambition or innovation.
This year-long consultancy position will play a central role in the implementation of Wellcome’s strategic engagement of multilateral negotiation process for G20 Brazil as a part of the team. This consultant will also co-develop the G20 strategy with the Wellcome Government Relations team.

The deliverables for this work are:

- Strategy: co-develop Wellcome’s political strategy for Brazil’s G20 presidency. For example, identify possible individuals, departments and organisations to engage, make suggestions on what Wellcome’s approach should be. Identify opportunities and risks for the engagement plan – including how this can build to future multilateral engagement moments, including but not limited to COP30 and other important global health issues of political relevance.
- Relationships: establish trusted relationship with Brazilian host secretariat, community of member states, and invited states and organizations to support Wellcome’s strategic priorities. Ensure Wellcome is seen as a key partner for G20 key stakeholders. From time to time they may represent Wellcome, and act as a focal point for G20 engagement in Brazil for Wellcome.
- Negotiation process: contextualise Wellcome’s strategic priorities within ongoing G20 negotiations.
- Briefing: provide advice and reporting including a weekly briefing with Government Relations team, and regular written updates on relevant Brazilian government, G20 and sector activities. Curate and lead internal coordination mechanisms to effectively engage senior management and relevant teams, shaping Wellcome’s positions and directions.
- In-country support: provide general advice and support to London-based colleagues, building their knowledge, cultural and political understanding.
- Monitor and stay on top of political news, current global events, and Brazil’s reaction and response, feeding this back to Wellcome colleagues.

This is a timebound position to deliver Wellcome’s work on Brazil’s G20 Presidency (January 2024-December 2024). We are particularly keen to hear from applicants based in Brazil. Some of the skills and experience we hope applicants will:

- Strong experience of working with the Brazilian government, Brazilian civil society organisations or at multilateral development institutions.
- Understanding of global health, including Wellcome’s strategic priorities – discovery research, climate and health, mental health and infectious disease.
- Understanding of Brazilian political themes, including those relating to climate change, indigenous rights and biodiversity.
- Knowledge of political decision-making processes at the G20 and of the landscape in Brazil and in Latin America region, as well as policies and practices across global health.
- Proven expertise in identifying and articulating strategic issues, trade-offs, and priorities to provide sound advice and help drive projects to success.
• Compelling experience in providing strategic and political analysis and driving fast-moving and complex initiatives and projects.
• Ability to work collaboratively.

If, within the proposed outputs of this RFP exercise, specific adjustments are required by you or your team which incur additional cost then outline them clearly within your commercial response. Wellcome is committed to evaluating all proposals fairly and will ensure any proposed adjustment costs sit outside the commercial evaluation.
